

When the weather outside is frightful, Member Programs are delightful

Don't let the cold get you down. Our programs in January and February are sure to fire up your enthusiasm and warm your senses. Come solo or bring friends and family because our meetings are free and open to the public!

THURSDAY, JANUARY 18:

Pocket Prairies are coming to a median near you!

Trevor Pellerite, writer/attorney/biologist, will share how his nonprofit foundation, Grasslands Unlimited, is changing the landscape of Omaha's medians and roadsides into low-maintenance, nature-friendly habitats.

Grasslands Unlimited is dedicated to restoration and advocacy for grassland ecosystems throughout Nebraska and the Great Plains. Current work in Omaha focuses on restoring ignored property back to native habitat, including at Pacific Preserve, Lamp Park, and Zorinsky Lake.

You may have read about Trevor Pellerite in The Omaha World Herald earlier this year. This program is your opportunity to meet him and learn more about "pocket prairies."

Join us on Thursday, January 18, at DJ's Dugout, 777 N. 114th Street, in the private meeting room. You can order food and drinks during our 6 p.m. social hour. Meet and mingle with others who share an appreciation of our natural world. Then be inspired by Trevor Pellerite at the 7 p.m. presentation!

This program is free and open to the public. Please register at Audubon-Omaha.org.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15:

Backyard Bird Photography is nature-candy for your eyes! Albert Rhea, award-winning painter/sculptor/photographer, will join us to share his tips and tricks for photographing birds in your own backyard. Rhea's home features a pollinator habitat designed to attract birds and butterflies into camera range. You don't have to be a camera buff to enjoy his program. His amazing close-up images of birds will knock your socks off! As Albert explains, "macrophotography, or close-up photography, is magical because it takes us into a smaller universe of vibrant colors, exquisite details and extraordinary patterns that can literally take your breath away."

Join us on Thursday, February 15, for social hour at 6 p.m., followed by Albert Rhea's presentation at 7 p.m. We meet in the private meeting room at DJ's Dugout, 777 N. 114th Street. Register at Omaha-Audubon.org.

DeSoto NWR and Lake Manawa offer winter waterfowl watching

Ready for an ice breaker? Join us for our January 20 field trip to DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge. Meet in the visitor center at 9 a.m. and enjoy the warmth of watching birds through the windows. If you do not have an annual pass, the entrance fee is $2.50 per person. Please register for the field trip at AudubonOmaha.org

Then get bundled up for a frozen treat at 9 a.m., February 17, at Lake Manawa. Conor Gearin will share his extensive knowledge as he leads us to the best spots to watch waterfowl. Conor recently moved back to Omaha and is eager to get involved with ASO. Conor is the Managing Producer of BirdNote and holds a Master's degree in Science Writing from MIT and an MS in Biology from the University of Nebraska-Omaha. He knows birds! Register early for this educational outing. The best viewing location will be determined prior to the trip and emailed to all registered attendees.

GREEN CORNER: HOW YOU CAN COMBAT CLIMATE CHANGE

Conservation begins at home; each of us can help restore our unique ecosystem.

Plastic-free for January

Have you ever tried to use less plastic? Even for just one month? Most plastic packaging for food items is not recyclable. Look for grocery stores that sell food items in bulk, give buying in bulk a try and skip the plastic packaging.

Free Up February

Winter weather keeping you indoors? Take this time to free up some space and clean out a closet or a pantry or garage. Donate items no longer used or needed to your favorite nonprofit thrift store or a charity rummage sale.

Field notes from the President

By Christine Prescott, President, Audubon Society of Omaha

The Audubon Society of Omaha (ASO) is spreading its wings once again as it resumes in-person monthly meetings at DJ's Dugout, conveniently located off 114th and Dodge. After a period of virtual gatherings, members are excited to come together to share their passion for birds and conservation.

The meetings have been a feathered success, featuring engaging presentations on a variety of topics, from bird feeding and planting for pollinators to insights into the fascinating world of turkeys. Attendees have found these discussions both informative and inspiring.

As ASO looks ahead, the website calendar is a valuable resource for members and enthusiasts alike, providing details on upcoming programs and events. The programs committee is hard at work planning a lineup of captivating presentations for the coming year, promising even more opportunities for learning and connection.

The Audubon Society of Omaha is also inviting new members to join its flock, with a special call for individuals with a financial background. ASO is actively seeking someone who can be trained to take on the crucial role of treasurer, contributing their skills to support the organization's financial health.

Whether you're a seasoned birdwatcher or a newcomer to the world of avian appreciation, the Audubon Society of Omaha welcomes you to be part of its vibrant community. Join the flock, attend a meeting, and explore the fascinating world of birds and conservation.

LOVE CRANES? HAVE TIME? Rowe Sanctuary is looking for volunteers during Crane Season. There are many fun and satisfying ways to become involved with the community here. No matter what your schedule or your interests, there is something here for you! We can tailor your volunteer experience to fit your individual skills and preferences. 2023 Best of Show winner, Realism category winner, Dakota S., 10th grade

We invite students K-12 to participate in our annual Student Art Contest held/hosted/organized by Audubon Society of Omaha. Our goal is to introduce young people to birds and promote the importance of wildlife in our community. It is our hope that young people will recognize the birds they create and foster an enjoyment of nature. This contest is free to enter and open to the public.

WHO: All K-12 students, even if their school does not participate

WHAT: Original student artwork featuring birds. Many prizes will be awarded in these categories: Realism, Graphic Design, Cartooning, and Recycled.

HOW AND WHERE: Starting January 2, look for rules, entry forms and more at audubon-omaha.org under the Special Events tab.

ENTRY DEADLINES: Submit entries at the Audubon Society of Omaha office, 4339 S. 90th Street, on:

- Thursday, Feb. 22, 3 - 6 p.m.
- Friday, Feb. 23, 3 - 6 p.m.
- Saturday, Feb. 24, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

ART SHOW AND AWARDS:

Saturday, April 20, from noon until 3 p.m. The Student Art Show gives attendees an opportunity to view every work of art submitted, but be sure to be there before 2 p.m. The Awards ceremony for grades K-4 starts at 1 p.m., for grades 5-8 at 2 p.m., and for grades 9-12 at 3 p.m. After each Awards Ceremony, student artists will take their art home.

WHY: It's long been known that drawing something helps a person remember it. A new study shows that drawing is superior to activities such as reading or writing because it forces the person to process information in multiple ways: visually, kinesthetically, and semantically. A focus on birds provides teachers, parents and students an opportunity to discuss the conservation and protection of our environment, therefore helping birds and all wildlife.

HOW YOU CAN HELP:

Please consider volunteering to:

- Collect and organize art
- Wrap and package prizes
- Hang student artwork for the Show
- Help with hosting the Art Show

To volunteer please contact Julia Rawsley at jrawnsley@audubonomaha.org. If you have questions, contact Virginia at vstauffer@yahoo.com.

Connect with others who share your passion for nature by Anne Maguire

Looking to make a difference? Audubon Society of Omaha has a wide variety of opportunities for you to get involved. If you want a fulfilling way to support our natural environment, learn and share ideas, enjoy the outdoors, meet others who share your enthusiasm, and experience the satisfaction of helping protect birds and their habitat, we're looking for you!

Consider joining our board of directors. We are all volunteers of different ages and backgrounds with one thing in common – we care about nature. Board members meet monthly to plan and carry out the business of birding, conservation, education, fundraising and finance, marketing and communication, and natural areas stewardship.

Our fiscal year runs from July 1 - June 30. Nominations for the 2024/2025 board are open now and are due by March 1. You can nominate yourself or someone you know by emailing amaguire@audubonomaha.org. If you have questions, please call or text Anne Maguire at 402-960-0507.

DO YOU HAVE A KNACK FOR NUMBERS? We'd love for you to solve this problem: Audubon Society of Omaha needs a treasurer.

The term of our current treasurer expires on June 30, 2024. As we seek to fill this vital board position, please take a minute to review the treasurer's responsibilities and see if you or someone you know may fit into this equation.

The treasurer is a member of the executive committee of the board of directors of Audubon Society of Omaha. Our executive committee and directors are all volunteers. The treasurer position is responsible for all financial transactions and for coordinating with the Certified Public Accountant on items such as monthly sales tax, 990 filing and investment tracking.

SPECIFIC DUTIES INCLUDE:

- Paying property taxes and filing for exemptions as appropriate;
- Managing accounts payable and receivable;
- Supervising bird seed sales reconciliation/tracking;
- Monitoring bulk mail account and mailbox, key control;
- Ensuring that the lease for the building is upheld (repairs, HVAC service, etc.);
- Serving as chairperson of the finance committee;
- And assuming any other typical duties of a treasurer.

ESTIMATED TIME COMMITMENT

depends upon a person's familiarity or comfort with Quickbooks and accounting work. Our current treasurer, who is not a finance professional, spends about eight hours a month on reconciliation/bill paying, plus an extra three hours on three Finance Committee meetings, and another three hours for budget preparation. The average total time our treasurer invests in ASO varies between 12-15 hours a month, up to 20 hours during busy months.

SKILLS/KNOWLEDGE/QUALITIES:

Basic accounting/bookkeeping principles, base knowledge of Quickbooks desired, desire to support and jointly make decisions for the organization. A commitment of two years in the position is optimal.

ASO's two previous treasurers will be available to answer questions and provide support. There is a calendar of dates of specific activities and a pretty good write-up of procedures.

Help us find the solution. If you or someone you know would like to learn more, please call or email Anne Maguire at 402-960-0507 or amaguire@audubonomaha.org

ASO in action

TURKEY TALK PROGRAM ASO's November meeting welcomed some new faces as we "gobbled" food watching the fascinating PBS documentary, "My Life as a Turkey."

Our guest speaker, Dr. Mark Vrtiska, Wildlife Management Specialist, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, shared updates on the first year of the three-year $4-million study of Nebraska's wild turkey population, which has decreased 45% since 2009. Sixty turkeys are being trapped each year in two geographic locations. Blood samples are taken and GPS trackers attached to assess their health and track their movement. The goals of the study, which includes genome testing, are to understand the factors contributing to the decline and to restore the wild turkey population.

HAWKWATCH FIELDTRIP

Nine brave birders climbed the tower at Hitchcock Nature Center for our November Hawk Watch field trip. It was sunny, but the cold temps and wind chased the birders inside after Bob Wells, past ASO president, pointed out several hawks. Warming up inside, they learned how to access the Hawk Watch website data.
